Employee Highlight

My name is Tancee` Smith and I've been with Odgers Berndtson, US Association & Corporate Affairs Practice, located in Washington, DC for a little under a year (8 months). An interesting fact about me, I have a passion for photography. I enjoy photographing scenery, places, objects, and people in motion.

Feel Good News!

A photographer captured the incredible peak of a meteor shower—as sparks are seen shooting across the night sky. 31-year-old Uroš Fink photographed the annual Perseid meteor shower, which takes place every summer, from a mountain in Slovenia. His image shows the colorful Milky Way dotted with nebulae as the Perseid meteors shoot across the night sky. The Perseids “are considered the best meteor shower of the year,” according to NASA. You can be anywhere in the Northern Hemisphere to enjoy this show of speed and light. The shop worker took the photo from the Mangart Saddle, the highest lying road in Slovenia. Uroš said, “I could hardly wait for the day to come. Every year I am full of expectation to see the Perseids. Read more here.
